Degree: <input type="checkbox"/> Bachelor's degree and/or master's degree <input type="checkbox"/> Doctoral degree
The decision to waive a right to study is binding. If you waive an active right to study towards a bachelor's degree, both it and any right to study towards a master's degree will end and take effect on the date the notification was received. After waiving your right to study, you may not continue studies for the education indicated in the notification. The only way then to regain a right to study is to go through the application procedure for new students.

Reason for waiving the right to study

As part of its monitoring of studies, Aalto University asks to know the reasons for waiving rights to study. Responses are voluntary and will have no effect on the processing of the notification. If you respond, please do not include any sensitive information. Information about the reason for the waiver will be passed on to the Aalto University school that granted the right to study.
